Maintenance says...

When the weather cools down, the furnaces come on. Don't be concerned if the first time you run yours you notice a slight odor. That is just the dust burning off the coils and it is not unusual or dangerous. However, if your furnace is not working properly, please let us know so we can correct the problem before it gets really cold! If it is after hours, please call the after hours maintenance emergency hot-line at (913) 894-3744
